

PIONEERS IN PORK

For more than 100 years, we've treated our livestock with industry-leading care. Not because we have to. Because we choose to.

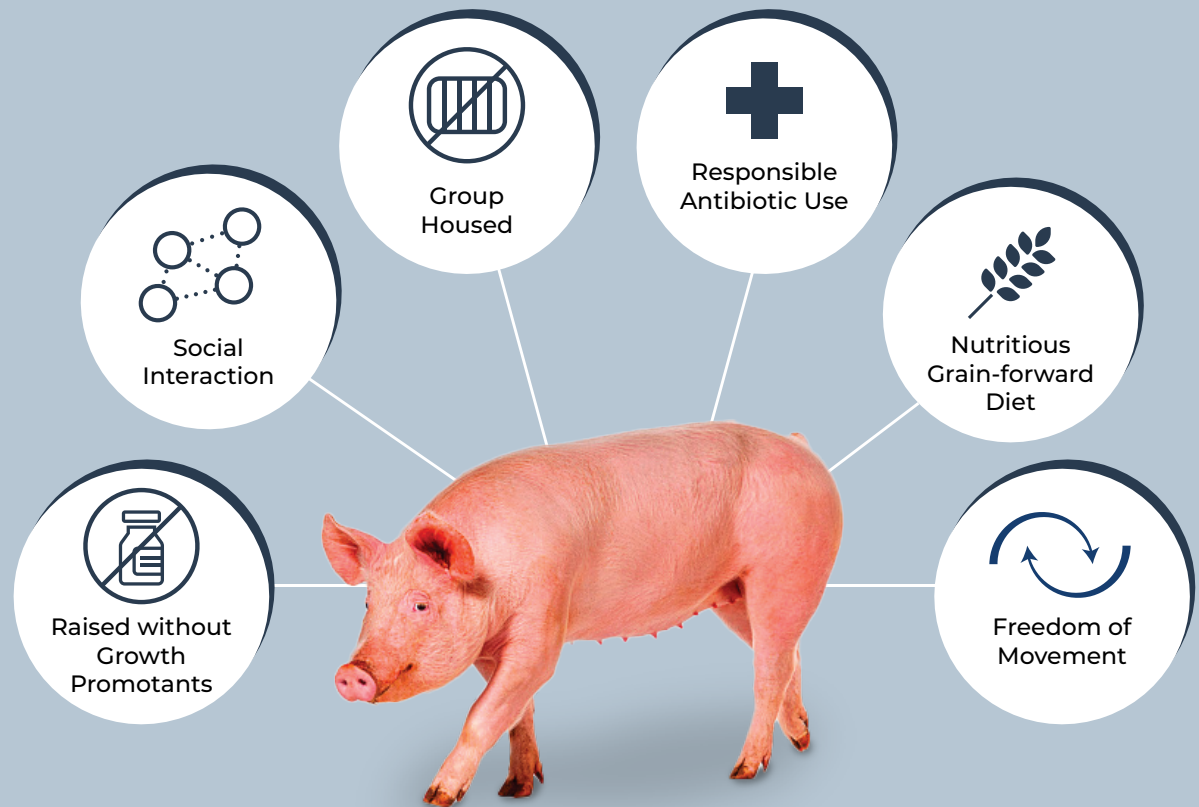

Leading With Compassion

In everything we do, we lead with compassion, especially when it comes to our sows. They're the center of our world.

Better Care Means Better Pork

Clemens Commitment to Animal Care means our animals come first. Every day.

Animal care is our passion and an investment — for us and for you. We're committed to pursuing animal care in the most economical way possible, and we have the ability to confidently do this at scale. That means you and your customers can feel good about working with Clemens Food Group every step of the way.

GROUP HOUSING MAKES A DIFFERENCE

More freedom. More socialization. More compassion.

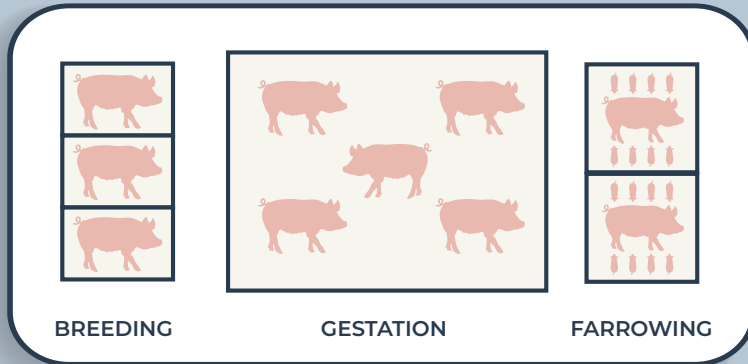

Every day, we push for a better way to handle our animals, which is why we believe in group housing for our pregnant sows.

When you buy Clemens Group Housed products, you can be assured that all animals in our care, including our sows (mother pigs) were raised in a group housed environment. Hatfield's advanced group housing system significantly lowers the time sows spend in breeding stalls compared to traditional sow housing systems.

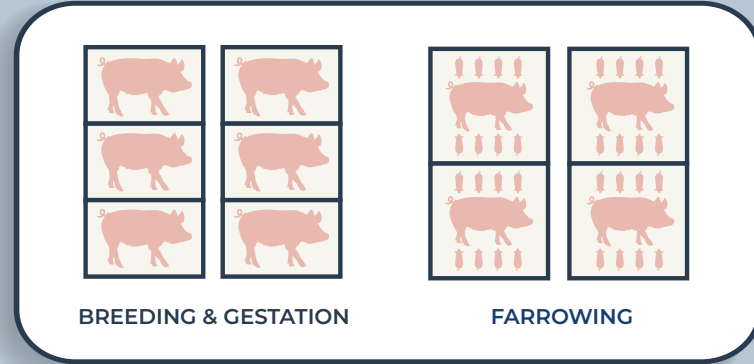

JUST A FEW OF THE BENEFITS OF OUR SOW HOUSING SYSTEM:

- Sows transition to group housing upon confirmation of pregnancy, averaging 80 fewer days spent in crates — 70% less time than traditionally housed sows
- Can freely explore their surroundings
- Ample opportunities to exercise and socialize
- Increased interaction with caregivers

VS

THE EXPERIENCE OF A TRADITIONALLY HOUSED SOW:

- Lifetime of total confinement (entire 115-day cycle spent in crates)
- No ability to turn around
- No opportunity to exercise
- No socializing with other sows
- Could be prone to injury due to lack of movement
- Minimal interaction with caregivers
